Good Earth Red 2024

A youthful, fruity red made from the Regent grape using partial-carbonic maceration.

Cases produced: 120/ Residual sugar: 0 g/L / Alcohol by Volume: 10.8%

Tasting notes: Deep purple color with intense aromas of candied cherry, black plum, hay, allspice and smoke. Velvety-smooth texture with fine-grained tannins and notes of green tea and spice on the finish.

Vineyard & Vintage notes: Regent is a locally-adapted variety that was originally developed at Geilweilerhof Institute in Germany. Planted in our Good Earth Block since 2022, we use 100% organic growing methods to cultivate this naturally disease-resistant variety. 2024 harvest was a dry and sunny period, resulting in good quality fruit with high ripeness levels. Grapes were hand-harvested October 3, 2024.

Winemaker notes: This wine is a blend of two fermentations. The first lot was destemmed and crushed into a large bin for fermentation on the skins. After fermentation was complete, it was pressed and transferred to neutral oak barrels for aging. The second lot underwent carbonic maceration in a stainless steel vessel for seven days, then was destemmed and crushed into an open bin to complete fermentation. After pressing, the carbonic lot was aged in stainless steel. In March, the two lots were blended before being bottled on March 18, 2025.

Cellaring: This wine is meant to be consumed young, but will develop and mature over a few years from the vintage date.

MSRP: $26/bottle

Expected Release Date: March 2026
